

TODAY'S SPEAKER

Jonathan T.M. Reckford is chief executive officer of Habitat for Humanity International, an ecumenical Christian housing ministry that has helped shelter more than 2.5 million people in more than 100 countries.

Reckford graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he was a Morehead Scholar. He received the Henry Luce Scholarship, enabling him to spend a year in Asia, where he performed marketing work for the Seoul Olympic Organizing Committee. Having been a competitive rower, he was also given the opportunity to coach the Korean rowing team in preparation for the 1988 Olympics.

Reckford earned his MBA from the Stanford University Graduate School of Business before spending a number of years in the for-profit sector, including executive and managerial positions at Goldman Sachs, Marriott, Disney and Best Buy.

Always active in his faith community, Reckford found an avocation helping to coach pastors in dealing with the management side of church life. In 2003, he joined a Minnesota church as executive pastor.

He was appointed CEO of Habitat in 2005. He is the author of a book titled Creating a Habitat for Humanity: No Hands but Yours. Reckford is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and serves on the boards on Interaction and the Urban Land Institute Terwilliger Center on Workforce Housing.

Reckford lives in Atlanta with his wife, Ashley, and their children.
