THE HONORING OF RETIRING FACULTY

BOWMAN GRAY CAMPUS

Wake Forest University honors David A. Albertson, M.D., for thirty-one years of service to the University and its School of Medicine in the Department of General Surgery, Division of Surgical Sciences; for his exceptional talent as a general surgeon, unrivaled skill in the area of endocrine surgery, and his leadership in embracing new surgical techniques; for setting the standard as the ideal example in patient care; for distinction as an educator and speaker who has received the accolades of students, residents, and professional audiences; for leadership of, and recognition with fellowship in prestigious surgery organizations; and for continuously serving as a model of excellence in all his endeavors.

Wake Forest University honors Robert E. Bechtold, M.D., for twenty-six years of service to the University and its School of Medicine in the Department of Radiology, Division of Radiologic Sciences, including twenty-one years as chief of body computed tomography; for recognition as a superb general radiologist with expertise in abdominal imaging and assessment; for embodying the highest standards in patient care; for respect as a gifted educator and recipient of the James L. Quinn III, M.D., Award for Teaching Excellence; for selection by the American Board of Radiology to serve on the Oral Board Examination in Abdominal Imaging; and for valued contributions as a collaborator with Medical Center colleagues.

Wake Forest University honors Judy K. Brunso-Bechtold, Ph.D., for twenty-seven years of service to the University and its School of Medicine in the Department of Neurobiology and Anatomy; for excellence in research, teaching, and service; for her well-deserved reputation as an accomplished neuroanatomist; for her authoritative research on the organization and microstructure of sensory systems, the neurology of aging, and radiation-induced damage to the nervous system, all accomplished with continuous federal funding; for her exemplary commitment to classroom and laboratory teaching; and for her University-wide service as a member of the Graduate Council and as a member and president of the University Senate.

Wake Forest University honors David W. Busija, Ph.D., for twenty years of service to the University and its School of Medicine in the Department of Physiology and Pharmacology; for national recognition as an expert in experimental cardiovascular sciences and vascular cell and molecular biology; for achieving a rank of 95th percentile in the distribution of extramural NIH grants averaged over more than two decades; for an outstanding record of professional publications over twenty years at our institution; for election to fellowship in the Cardiovascular Section of the American Physiological Society; and for exploring innovative teaching techniques and generously sharing his time as a mentor to junior faculty members.

Wake Forest University honors William B. Lorentz, Jr., M.D., for thirty-six years of service to the University and its School of Medicine in the Department of Pediatrics, including nine years as Associate Chief of Professional Services at the Medical Center and service as Medical Director of the Quality Resource Center and Medical Staff Services; for establishing an active pediatric transplant program and both home and hospital dialysis programs that have enhanced the quality of life for countless children and parents; for well-received lectures to students and presentations to medical societies and hospital groups in Forsyth County and beyond; and for initiating a popular pediatric nephrology elective for medical students.

Wake Forest University honors Zakariya K. Shihabi, Ph.D., for thirty-eight years of service to the University and its School of Medicine in the Department of Pathology, including three years as Associate Director and thirty-five years as Director of the Clinical Chemistry Laboratory of North Carolina Baptist Hospital; for the contagious enthusiasm that has marked his stellar career as one of the leaders in the field of microcapillary electrophoresis; for his impressive record of scientific publications attesting to his expertise in his field; and his collaborations with industry, to the benefit of our institution and patients whose lives will be improved through the application of his scientific discoveries.

THE HONORING OF RETIRING FACULTY

Wake Forest University honors Jimmy L. Simon, M.D., for thirty-six years of service to the University and its School of Medicine in the Department of Pediatrics, including twenty-two years as department chair; for preeminence as a pediatric generalist whose range of expertise spans the pediatric subspecialties; for expressing his passion for pediatric education as both consummate teacher and lifelong learner; for perennial honors from students and house staff including coveted teaching awards and a yearbook dedication; for continuing after retirement to mentor medical students and assist with the resident match; and for national leadership on the Pediatric Task Force on Education, a legacy of enduring influence on pediatric education.

Wake Forest University honors Sara H. Sinal, M.D., for thirty-five years of service to the University and its School of Medicine in the Department of Pediatrics; for national recognition as an expert in child abuse and neglect, for sharing her legendary diagnostic skills statewide with community physicians confronted with hard-to-diagnose conditions; for being honored for her dedication as a champion of the protection and well-being of children as recipient of the SCAN Community Service Award and the Kimberly K. Crews Award; for coordinating development of a multidisciplinary team to evaluate complex cases; and for her reputation as a sought-after lecturer and respected educator of students, residents, and fellow physicians.

REYNOLDA CAMPUS

Wake Forest University honors John P. Anderson, Ph.D., for twenty-seven years of devoted service to Wake Forest as a Professor of Counseling and Vice President for Administration and Planning, during which he deftly shaped the present and future of Wake Forest University and the counseling profession as a visionary steward. He challenged students to learn the rationale behind the theories and techniques of counseling, engaging students and energizing them to explore beyond the essentials. Dr. Anderson challenged students to be reflective and empathic toward those with whom they worked, and he modeled leadership so as to inspire his students and the University.

Wake Forest University honors Douglass M. Bailey, M.Div., for his creative and dedicated service to Wake Forest University School of Divinity since 2002. Professor Bailey is a beloved teacher who has answered and interpreted for others the church's call to urban ministry and social justice in ways that have shaped a generation of religious leaders and imbued them with a passion for the needs of the poor and marginalized. His commitment to the care of all God's creatures embodies the Pro Humanitate values of his alma mater.

Wake Forest University honors Donald E. Frey, Ph.D., for thirty-nine years of dedicated service to Wake Forest and the Department of Economics. He taught the core macroeconomics courses with rigorous academic standards and high expectations for all students with openness to challenging economic orthodoxies and exploring the power of vested interests. He also directed the Urban Studies Minor for nearly two decades. Dr. Frey is an accomplished researcher into the economics of educational vouchers, the size of the local economic multiplier, the history of economics and especially the interplay of morality and economic thought.

THE HONORING OF RETIRING FACULTY

Wake Forest University honors Fred L. Horton, Jr., Ph.D., for forty-one years of exemplary scholarship, teaching and service to Wake Forest and the community. He lent historical and editorial expertise to important archeological field work; brought exacting linguistic analysis to ancient texts; challenged and mentored generations of students, earning their respect and affection; served the Religion Department selflessly as an administrator, industrious committee member and valued counselor; was honored as the inaugural Albritton Professor; and represented the University with compassion and good humor that endeared him to ever-widening circles.

Wake Forest University honors Wayne King, B.A., for his uncompromising integrity and outstanding achievements as a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist and for his devotion to sharing his wisdom and experience, gathered during an illustrious career in news reporting, with Wake Forest students. Professor King inspired in his students a passion to seek out truth. As the leader of the University's journalism program he designed new courses and instituted an interdisciplinary minor, and he was a tireless advisor to The Old Gold & Black. Professor King will remain a cherished member of the community and a treasured friend to his colleagues.

Wake Forest University honors Patrick E. Moran, Ph.D., for over twenty-one years of dedicated service to the Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures, to Wake Forest, and to the profession. He has been a committed educator of Chinese language, philosophy, and culture; a colleague valued for his kindness, patience, civility, and fairness. Dr. Moran served as a visionary leader, guiding the Program in East Asian Languages and Literatures to the status of a Department and to a critical role in Wake Forest's impressive program of international study.

Wake Forest University honors Margaret Supplee Smith, Ph.D., for the gift of thirty-two years of leadership and scholarship, establishing the structure and tenor of a dynamic and successful Art Department and mentoring generations of faculty and students. Dr. Smith worked to establish the Women's Studies program and developed the first campus master plan for Wake Forest. From Boston brownstones to Charles Barton Keen, from Shaker villages to Mountain Modernism, she has brought rigor, creativity, and passion to her subjects while sharing her energy, enthusiasm, charisma and charm with her colleagues and friends.

Wake Forest University honors Robert W. Ulery, Jr., Ph.D., for his forty years of devoted service to the University and to generations of students who have learned to love the Classics in his classroom. Dr. Ulery has been a champion of the Latin language and its literature through his production of a body of scholarship on Tacitus, Bembo, and others that is of permanent value. He has given voice and energy to the ideals of liberal arts education, and his example has been powerfully expressed through quiet service, whether in the counsel of an eager student or the avocational gift of music to his grateful community.

Wake Forest University honors Sarah L. Watts, Ph.D., for twenty-four years of selfless, genuine dedication to students, especially to those arriving at Wake Forest without great advantage and in need of extra mentoring. As the first tenured woman and first female full professor in the history department, Dr. Watts served as the quintessential model of an exuberant intellectual. With her strong commitment to excellence in both teaching and research, she exemplified the Teacher-Scholar Ideal. Propelled by her commitment to the liberal arts, Dr. Watts shaped the minds of numerous scholars in the history of our world, our nation, and economic thought.

THE WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY MACE

The Wake Forest University mace, a handsome staff decorated with scenes and symbols of the University, was first used at the inauguration of President James Ralph Scales in April 1968. It is a traditional symbol of authority and is carried at the head of the academic processions at Commencement and convocations. The mace is shaped from a single sheet of silver covered with gold. It has an ebony handle. Etchings of Wait Chapel, Reynolda Hall, an arch at an entrance to the campus, and the cupola on the Z. Smith Reynolds Library are on the largest, or middle, section. Pictures of the Old Campus are on the top section. On the bottom are panoramas of the medical school, Carswell Hall, and the skyline of Winston-Salem. Each section is separated by raised drawings of magnolias. A double-cast seal of the University is at the top of the mace. The mace was given by Tom Davis of Winston-Salem in honor of his father, Egbert Lawrence Davis (LLB 1904).

THE PRESIDENTIAL CHAIN OF OFFICE

The Presidential Chain of Office is part of the academic regalia worn by the President at Commencement and convocations. It is a goldplated necklace of medallions linked by onyx-centered magnolia blossoms. On each medallion is the name of a former Wake Forest president and the years of his tenure. The Chain of Office was a gift to the University in 1991 from Weston P. Hatfield ('41), a life trustee and former chair of the Board of Trustees.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Academic regalia apparently originated at Oxford and Cambridge more than 600 years ago. The apparel is little changed in design, colors, and symbolism. In no other sector are the ancient usages of the university so unchanging. In 1895 an intercollegiate commission drafted a uniform code for the use of academic caps, gowns, and hoods in the United States. Over the years there have been only minor revisions to the code, which is followed by 95 percent of the colleges and universities in America, including Wake Forest.

Gowns, which according to the tradition, are all black (Harvard, Princeton, and Yale are exceptions), are of three kinds. The bachelor's gown is a comparatively simple kind that falls in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. The master's gown is similar to the bachelor's except for its peculiar arrangement of the long sleeves with square ends that hang below the elbow. The doctor's gown is an elaborate, full-cut, flowing costume distinguished by velvet panels down the front and around the neck and by three bars of velvet on the bell-shaped sleeves.

The academic hood was literally a garment to protect the wearer from foul weather. It is the identifying symbol of the degree. The length indicates which degree it represents: three feet for the bachelor's, three and a half for the master's, and four for the doctoral. The lining indicates the college or university which awarded the degree. Those who receive degrees from Wake Forest wear hoods lined in old gold and black. The color of the trimming identifies the major field of learning: white for arts and letters, copper for journalism, purple for law, green for medicine, drab for business, pink for music, silver-gray for speech, dark blue for philosophy, light blue for education, sage green for physical education, golden yellow for science, cream for social science, and scarlet for theology.

The Wake Forest University trustees wear black robes with old gold and black on the front panels and the bars on the sleeves. The shield from the University seal is embroidered on the front panels.

Some universities have duplicated colors, but generally a glance at the lining, which is worn exposed, will identify the awarding institution. Some of the university colors worn today are:
